The Hope Highlands Middle School Library serves as its primary clientele the Hope Highlands school students, staff, teachers, service providers, and school community, without regard for age, gender, religious or ethnic background, political affiliation, educational ability or economic status. As a member of the RILINK Consortium, the Hope Highlands School Library extends full access to its materials and services at no charge to the RILINK Consortium schools, libraries and communities.

The Hope Highlands Middle School Library’s resources are chosen for the students, staff and faculty. Resources are chosen to support the Cranston Public School curriculum and to engage and excite students in grades 6-8. Resources include books, periodicals, digital books and online databases.

The library facility is available for use by the school community per approval from the school Principal.

The Library is open Monday, Wednesday and Thursday. Curriculum integration and collaboration are the lifeblood of the library. The Library also offers on-line databases through AskRI, as well as wi-fi Internet access. The library RICAT webpage and LibGuide (http://guides.rilinkschools.org/hopehuskies) provide access to the on-line catalog, selected online databases through the RILINK Consortium, various curriculum resources and integrations, and numerous links to recommended Internet resources.

Hope Highlands Middle School is located at 300 Hope Road, Cranston, RI 02921. The school phone number is 270-8148.

Cranston Public schools welcomes diversity in its employment opportunities, programs, and activities.
